Objective

Seeking a position where my extensive work move will be developed & utilised.

About Me

A dedicated academic professional with a strong background in research and management, specializing in HR and marketing. My work has been published in prestigious journals including Sage, Routledge, and Wiley, showcasing my proficiency in academic writing. Notably, I've achieved publication in a B-category journal listed in the ABDC Journal Quality List, underscoring the quality of my research. Driven by a passion for academic excellence, I'm eager to leverage my expertise to make significant contributions in management studies, particularly in HR and marketing, within esteemed academic institutions.

Work Experience

Assistant Professor

1st Feb 2024 to present

Currently serving as an assistant professor at the School of Management, Swami Vivekanand University, Barrackpore, Kolkata. I do teach HR and Marketing papers along with Research Methods.

Young Professional

Dec 2022 to Jan 2024

Ministry of Labour & Employment Government of India

In my YP role, I was actively engaged in addressing critical labor and employment issues through data analysis, which helped shape national labor strategies. My main aim was to collaborate with job seekers and employers, offer student counseling, and provide solutions for employment and skills challenges.

Associate fellow

July 2022 to Dec 2022

Ministry of Environment Delhi Government (GNCTD)

My responsibilities included data analysis, policy collaboration, reporting, and community engagement, with a focus on sustainable horticulture and environmental conservation. This experience provided valuable insights into environmental sustainability, enriching my understanding of horticultural development and its impact on the community.

Project Coordinator

2012 - 2017

PRDTI Ghazipur & Other Organisation

In various roles, including that of a Project Coordinator, I gained extensive experience in diverse fields such as marketing, advertising, data enumeration, entry, analysis, and comprehensive report compilation. These experiences greatly enhanced my project management, data handling, and report writing skills, further strengthening my commitment to research and academia.
